

The Journey of Charity Law: The impact of past problems today and into the future

29 September 2023 | 8AM - 4:30 PM

Terrace Room, Level 6, Sir Llew Edwards Building (#14) UQ St Lucia Campus

This symposium seeks to bring together scholars to reflect on and critically engage with the legal, regulatory, and social implications of historical charity law traditions, and how these traditions impact how charities operate today. Deep engagement with the blunt edges of charity law will direct reform efforts to improve a charity's capacity to contribute to social and economic life, better facilitate the relationship between a charity, government, beneficiaries, donors and society, strengthen the charity sector's resilience when tasked to relive challenging social and welfare issues in the future and provide a meaningful contribution towards achieving international sustainable development goals.

Please join us from 4.30pm onwards for food and beverages following the event.
